Abstracts

In 2018, the transport and storage industry's revenues grew at less than the rate of inflation, reflecting economic problems associated with a rapidly depreciating currency and surging inflation. The country's previous debt-driven economic growth reversed, with a significant impact on local businesses. Their costs increased, and they struggled to pay back loans, 40% of which were denominated in foreign currencies. The country's foreign trade was also affected, as the currency depreciation reduce...
