Abstracts

The COVID-19 pandemic has hit the travel industry in Georgia very hard. The government acted quickly to close border closures and suspend flights, as well as train travel and other internal restrictions on movement. This has effectively suspended demand for inbound, domestic and outbound travel, and incomes from air, car rental, hotel and lodging stays, and online and offline bookings are all set to see significant drops in 2020. Lack of certainty about when these restrictions on travel will be fulfilled...
