Abstracts

The vegetables category experienced positive growth in Vietnam in 2023, particularly in the institutional and foodservice sectors. With a 100% vaccination rate amongst children by the end of 2022, more parents were allowing their children to stay in school despite their busy schedules in modern life. This factor drove fast volume growth in the institutional sector. International tourism to Vietnam drove growth in vegetables through foodservice channels in 2023. Inflation and a weak economy have...
