Entering a grocery store in a pandemic with such a contagious disease as COVID-19 means coming into contact with other people. Even payment methods such as swiping a card or passing cash to someone are perceived as potential risks. This is why consumers have increasingly turned to new shopping platforms and methods to order groceries safely. The onus has therefore, been on supermarkets and other grocery retailers to provide the infrastructure to enable contactless payments.

Channels include hypermarkets, supermarkets, discounters, convenience stores, mixed retailers, health and beauty retailers, clothing and footwear retailers, furniture and furnishing stores, DIY and hardware stores, durable goods retailers, leisure and personal goods retailers.
