Abstracts

Weight management and wellbeing has benefitted from COVID-19, with the product area expected to register a second year of double-digit current value growth. With people forced to spend significant amounts of time at home, therefore taking less physical activity, and also sometimes eating more and drinking more due to the stress caused by COVID-19, many people have put on weight and as a result, weight management products are expected to continue to register increased demand. This is in spite of...
