Weight management was influenced by two distinctive factors in 2015. First, the growing number of obese and overweight citizens in Austria maintained the demand for weight management products. According to Euromonitor International, the overweight population increased by 1% in 2015, to account for 35% of the total population, whilst the obese population increased by 3% in 2015, to account for 14% of the total population. In the review period the obese population grew more strongly (growth of...
