Abstracts

Beauty and personal care sales fell in 2022, amid strong inflationary pressure. Consumers are looking for convenience and are decreasingly channel loyal. In this scenario, retailers have widely adopted omnichannel strategies. E-commerce has seen strong growth for fragrances and colour cosmetics. Both categories continue to improve the consumer experience and engagement through technology. Specialist health and beauty retailers are investing in innovative store strategies to attract consumers.

Euromonitor International's Where Consumers Shop for Beauty and Personal Care global briefing offers an insight into to the size and shape of the Beauty and Personal Care market and highlights buzz topics, emerging geographies, categories and trends as well as pressing industry issues and white spaces.
