Abstracts

Latin America saw the strongest regional decline globally in womenswear value over the review period. Sales were hampered by difficult economic conditions, including local currency devaluations, which negatively impacted consumption. The region's largest categories, such as jeans and underwear, were the main sources of decline. Competition between local and international players is expected to intensify over the coming years.

Euromonitor International's Womenswear in Latin America global briefing offers an insight into the size and shape of the apparel market, highlights buzz topics, emerging trends as well as pressing industry issues. It identifies the leading companies and brands, offers strategic analysis of key factors influencing the clothing and footwear market - be they changes on the supply side, in channel dynamics, economic/ lifestyle /demographic influences or pricing issues. Forecasts illustrate how the market is set to change and criteria for success.

Product coverage: Apparel, Footwear, Sportswear.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
