Abstracts

Jewellery remains dominated by the fine segment, with Asia Pacific now the category's global growth engine. Jewellery is set for further growth through to 2024, although in the short term, the coronavirus is poised to negatively impact China's demand, and the rest of the world. However, successful jewellery brands will be those embracing the ever-stronger casualisation, self-gifting and digitalisation trends that have led to the rise of demi-fine jewellery in recent years.

Euromonitor International's World Market for Jewellery global briefing offers detailed strategic analysis of the global Personal Accessories market by pinpointing growth sectors and identify factors driving change. The report identifies leading companies and brands within the keenly contested, fashion-driven competitive landscape, trend developments, economic/lifestyle influences, seasonal patterns, market and distribution strategies. Forecasts illustrate how the market is predicted to develop between mature and emerging countries, threats facing the business as well as opportunities to be seized for further growth.

Data coverage: market sizes (historic and forecasts), company shares, brand shares and distribution data.
