Abstracts

Product Overview

Culinary Sauce is a liquid with a smooth texture used in food preparation. By adding flavor and moisture to improve the cosmetic value, these sauces improve the food products. In key regional cuisines, such as Asian, British, French, Italian, and Latin cuisines, they play a critical role. Products differ in terms of the ratio of solid to liquid elements. Differentiation is also noted with the active ingredient of the spice or condiment and also with the particular use of the substance. In addition, these sauces strengthen the whole style of cooking and make food more presentable and attractive.

Market Highlights

Global Culinary Sauces Market to surpass USD 69billion by 2030 from USD 21.3 billion in 2018 at a CAGR of 3.71% throughout the forecast period, i.e., 2019-30.

Introducing low-fat alternatives, introducing new flavors, customer desire to try foreign cuisines, and increasing the use of natural and organic ingredients are the main factors leading to the growth of the demand for sauces, dressings, and condiments worldwide. Social factors such as the rise in disposable incomes and an increase in the population of working women worldwide are likely to maintain the growth trend in the long-term demand for culinary sauces. In addition, demand growth would also be supported by a rise in the number of single-person households. The addition of numerous gourmet features, ethnic flavors, exotic spice ingredients, and serving formats is attracting greater interest among customer groups, which in turn would stimulate higher global sales of culinary sauces.

Global Culinary Sauces Market: Segments

Barbecue sauces Segment to grow with the highest CAGR during 2019-30

Global Culinary Sauces Market is segmented by product into Hot Sauces, Soy sauces, Barbecue sauces, Oyster sauces, Pasta Sauces, Tomato Sauces, and Others. The greater market share in 2019 was accounted for by Hot sauce owing to the increasing demand from the foodservice industry. Tomato sauces are the second largest segment of the global market for culinary sauces. The use of organic ingredients such as herbs with medicinal properties is creating a niche in the healthy food market for culinary sauces. As manufacturers concentrate on customer demand and their attributes for culinary sauces ingredients organic, natural, no sodium or no synthetic flavors and preservatives, the growing movement towards health and wellness has boosted sales of sauces.

Supermarket/Hypermarket segment to grow with the highest CAGR during 2019-30

Global Culinary Sauces Market is segmented by Distribution Channel into Supermarket/Hypermarket, Traditional Grocery Stores, Online Retailing and Others. Based on the distribution channel, supermarkets/hypermarkets held the largest share in 2018 in terms of revenue as in the urban areas' supermarkets/hypermarkets are the major channels of distribution of Culinary Sauces. People tend to purchase Culinary Sauces along with their daily grocery in urban areas. A major factor improving the sales of Culinary Sauces through this channel is also the fast accessibility to these supermarkets/hypermarkets. Supermarkets ensure that they use all these products to draw more consumers due to evolving consumer tastes, players launch new varieties on the market.

Global Culinary Sauces Market: Market Dynamics

Drivers

Rising Disposable Income Worldwide

Rising disposable income, increasing foreign cuisine popularity, and people's busy lifestyles are among the main factors that have a positive impact on the global growth of the demand for sauces, dressings, and condiments. In driving the growth of the industry, the increasing popularity of foreign cuisines around the world plays a crucial role. Growing cross-cultural contact and understanding contributes to a substantial increase in demand for foreign cuisines, which in turn leads to increased consumption of sauces and seasonings.

Changing Consumer Tastes for Region-Specific Flavors

Sauces are characterized as the liquid or semi-solid paste used in the food industry as a condiment. By adding flavor and moisture to improve the cosmetic value, these sauces improve the food products. Likewise, sauces are used as dips and toppings. People's busy lifestyles and growing demand for ethnic food and spices have a significant effect on the market for sauces. Changing customer preferences for region-specific spices also provide growth to the culinary sauces market over the coming years.

Restraints

Availability of Substitutes and Increasing Price of Raw Material

One of the major factors hampering the growth of the demand for condiments sauces is the rising price of raw materials. Because of the constant increase in raw material costs, manufacturers of food goods face challenges. In addition, any increase in freight prices adversely affects the cost of raw materials for shipping. This not only increases the cost of production but also contributes to a decline in the profit margin of suppliers.

Furthermore, the relentless need to stay competitive pushes producers to use low-cost raw material alternatives, which often have a negative effect on the quality of the product.

Global Culinary Sauces Market: Regions

Global Culinary Sauces Market is segmented based on regional analysis into five major regions. These include North America, Latin America, Europe, APAC, and MENA.

Global Culinary Sauces Marketing Asia Pacific held the largest market share of 42.15% in the year 2018 and is projected to grow at a CAGR of XX% during the forecast period. In addition, North America and Europe, too, will continue to offer attractive growth opportunities. Improving the lifestyle and the ability to play with new tastes and flavors would encourage a lucrative market in Asia for brands of condiments and sauces. The region's growth prospects will be fueled by demand from countries such as Taiwan, India, Japan, China, and Indonesia. Interestingly, the success of Asian cuisines in the U.S. provides growth opportunities. In Europe, the industry will also have a sizeable customer base. Rising launches aimed at improving health and exotic flavors would allow the market to display sustainable growth.
