Abstracts

Risk sharing agreements have been a strategic tool employed for more than a decade. Yet, they're still widely misunderstood — and underutilized, especially as they may help provide access to a frugal, risk-averse marketplace.

Are you up to speed on all that a risk sharing agreement might do for your product or organization?

Payer Perspectives on Risk Sharing offers expert insights on how risk sharing agreements can be a win-win for both pharmaceutical companies and payers in helping to build relationships and achieve optimal market access. In addition, gain perspective on when and how the right risk sharing agreement can help your product succeed in the marketplace.
