Abstracts

Catalysts are substances that increase the rate of a chemical reaction without being consumed in the process. They work by lowering the activation energy required for a reaction to occur, making it easier for the reactants to form products. Catalysts can be used in a wide range of applications, including industrial processes, chemical synthesis, and environmental remediation. According to the latest estimates, the global catalysts market is set to achieve an incremental growth of USD 8.8 billion, accelerating at a CAGR of almost 5.1% during the forecast period 2023-2029. The catalysts market is expected to continue to grow in the coming years, driven by increasing demand for cleaner fuels and petrochemicals, as well as increasing regulations on emissions and pollution.
