Abstracts

Garden hand tools are a category of manually powered tools that are widely used for a variety of gardening tasks, including digging, pruning, watering, and striking. These tools are an essential part of any gardener's toolkit, as they allow for precise and efficient work to be carried out with minimal effort. The global garden hand tool market is expected to increase by USD 2.7 billion, at a compound annual growth rate (CAGR) of 3.3% from 2023 to 2029, according to the latest edition of the Global Garden Hand Tool Market Report. The garden hand tools market is a growing segment of the gardening industry, driven by the increasing popularity of home gardening and landscaping. With more people taking an interest in growing their own fruits, vegetables, and flowers, the demand for high-quality hand tools has increased significantly. One of the key drivers of growth in the garden hand tools market is the trend towards eco-friendly and sustainable gardening practices. Many consumers are looking for tools that are made from environmentally friendly materials and that are designed to minimize waste and promote sustainability. Another factor driving growth in the garden hand tools market is the increasing availability of innovative and ergonomic designs. Manufacturers are investing in research and development to create tools that are more comfortable to use, more efficient, and more durable, which is helping to drive demand for these products. In addition, the rise of online shopping has made it easier than ever for consumers to access a wide range of garden hand tools from around the world. This has led to increased competition among manufacturers, as well as greater consumer choice and convenience.
