Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Crab Feed market size was valued at US$ 1154 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 1706 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 5.9% during review period.

Crab feed is a formulated feed specifically designed for the farming of crustaceans such as river crabs, mitten crabs, and mud crabs. It contains high protein (30-45%), a calcium-to-phosphorus ratio of approximately 2:1, 5-8% crude fat, 5% crude fiber, and water stability >2 hours. It solves the problems of slow growth, soft shells, and low survival rates caused by traditional omnivorous feeding methods. The average price is approximately USD 1.2/kg, with global sales of approximately 933,000 tons/year. The crab feed industry chain consists of upstream raw materials such as fishmeal, soybean meal, and corn, with prices fluctuating between 8-12%; midstream feed processing companies with single-line capacity of 1-20 tons/hour; and downstream farms of river crabs, mitten crabs, and mud crabs, with demand driven by consumption upgrades. Future development focuses on alternative proteins (such as insect meal and algae), functional additives (immune enhancers), and intelligent feeding systems to achieve efficient, environmentally friendly, and sustainable farming models.
