Abstracts

ACD or acid citrate dextrose is a solution of sodium citrate, citric acid and dextrose in water which is primarily used as an anticoagulant to preserve blood specimen. ACD tubes are specialized tubes utilized to preserve the whole blood specimen for future testing purpose. There are several types of acid citrate dextrose tubes available in the market. ACD tubes are primarily utilized in hospitals, clinics and diagnostics centers worldwide.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Acid Citrate Dextrose (ACD) Tubes in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

Geographically, North America and Europe contribute to the maximum share for ACD tubes owing to increasing awareness for safe blood storage, blood transfusion, rise in geriatric population and better health care standards. These regions have better reach to technological advancements and can invest resources in procuring the best health care solutions. Over the forecast period Asia Pacific region is expected to have the fastest growth for these devices due increase in public and private health care expenditure to meet global standards coupled with increase in awareness about hygiene factors in blood transfusion and blood preservation is a major driver in Asia-pacific region. Technological advancements and increase in health care spending will reduce the affordability constraint and further accelerate the adoption of ACD tubes across health care facilities, diagnostic centers and clinics in Latin America, the Middle East and Africa.

The worldwide market for Acid Citrate Dextrose (ACD) Tubes is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
