Abstracts

Ammonium phosphate is the salt of ammonium and phosphate. It is a highly unstable compound with the formula $(\text{NH}_4)_3\text{PO}_4$. Because of its instability, it is elusive and of no commercial value. A related "double salt", $(\text{NH}_4)_3\text{PO}_4 \cdot (\text{NH}_4)_2\text{HPO}_4$ is also recognized but is too unstable for practical use. Both triammonium salts evolve ammonia. In contrast to the fragile nature of the triammonium salts, diammonium phosphate $(\text{NH}_4)_2\text{HPO}_4$ is a valuable material, mainly as a fertilizer. Also of value is monoammonium salt $(\text{NH}_4)\text{H}_2\text{PO}_4$ which is also valued as a fertilizer.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Ammonium Phosphate in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

China accounted for the largest regional share for ammonium phosphate followed by India and Brazil. China was also the largest producer, accounting for over 50% of The global market in 2014. However, the government of India's decision to lower fertilizer subsidy is expected to decline demand. As a result, fertilizer prices have increased, which is expected to hamper market growth.

North America demand is expected to increase on account of improved reforms by the government on the use of fertilizers in crops. However, growing demand for organic products in the region is expected to hamper market growth over the forecast period. Furthermore, stringent regulations against the use of chemical fertilizers are expected to negatively impact market growth in Europe. As a result, the demand is expected to decline over the forecast period.

The worldwide market for Ammonium Phosphate is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
