Andalusite is an aluminum nesosilicate mineral which belongs to sillimanite family and is generally found in metamorphic rocks. It is a polymorph of two minerals including sillimanite and kyanite. Being polymorphic in nature, it has a chemical composition which is similar to sillimanite and kyanite with dissimilar physical structure.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Andalusite in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Asia Pacific is expected to be the one of the largest andalusite market owing to the growing demand for refractories in the region, particularly in emerging economies including India and China. At present, China is the key producer and consumer of refractories, primarily fueled by the presence of a robust steel industry. Vietnam, Philippines, Indonesia, Turkey and Russia are potential andalusite markets which are expected to grow and sustain over the next seven years. Latin America is anticipated to witness significant growth over the forecast period owing to the growing demand for andalusite-based cement refractories on account of infrastructure development in the region. Europe and North America are likely to be the moderate players in the consumption of refractories over the forecast period.

The worldwide market for Andalusite is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
