Abstracts

Anthracene is a product of coal tar, which is a by-product collected from carbonization of coal. Coal tar includes about one and a half percent of anthracene. It is colorless in nature, but exhibits a blue fluorescence under ultraviolet light. Thus, it is used in production of red dye alizarin and other dyes. Anthracene is first converted into anthraquinone; which is the product used in preparation of dye.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Anthracene in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Coming to regional markets, the U.S. has been, historically, a dominant importer of coal tar from countries, such as, Netherlands, France and Germany. Apart from these, China and Europe are the other dominant regions, as of today. However, EU is expected to have a stagnant growth in future, corresponding to the resolution passed to ban PAH, as mentioned above.

The worldwide market for Anthracene is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
