Abstracts

The global Anti-bacterial Pet Dental Spray market size is expected to reach $ 230 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 6.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Dental sprays claim to prevent or break down plaque buildup. Most products do not need to be sprayed onto the teeth, as they will mix with the dog's saliva and be moved around the mouth as the dog licks and swallows. In 2025, global Anti-bacterial Pet Dental Spray production reached approximately 20,286 k units, with an average global market price of around 7 US$/Unit. The production capacity of Anti-bacterial Pet Dental Spray reaches 25,400 k units, and the industry's gross profit margin is approximately between 30% and 50%.

The antibacterial pet dental spray market is developing rapidly, mainly driven by multiple factors such as the transformation of pets into family members, the significant increase in owners' health awareness, the advocacy of veterinarians for early intervention in oral diseases, and the low adoption rate of traditional brushing methods among pets. At the same time, consumers have a strong demand for convenient, stress-free, and daily oral care solutions, coupled with the trend of natural ingredients and the convenience of e-commerce channels, which jointly promote the development of this category.
