Automotive interior refurbishment services refer to the repair, refurbishment, cleaning, and renewal of vehicle interior components such as seats, dashboards, door panels, headliners, and carpets using professional techniques and equipment. The aim is to restore the interior's aesthetics and comfort, extend the vehicle's lifespan, and enhance its value. This service includes leather repair, plastic part repair, fabric cleaning, color restoration, and odor removal. During the service, professional cleaning agents, repair materials, and spraying equipment are used to meticulously restore old or damaged interiors to near-new condition. Upstream raw materials mainly include leather repair materials, plastic repair agents, dyes, and cleaning solutions; downstream services are primarily provided through auto repair shops, auto detailing shops, and car dealerships, with clients including the used car market, car owners, and leasing companies. The future lies in the combination of intelligent inspection and personalized customization services. As consumers increasingly demand personalized and long-term value retention for their vehicles, market demand will continue to grow, and companies with advanced technology and efficient service networks will gain a larger market share.
