Abstracts

Aircraft leases are leases used by airlines and other aircraft operators. Airlines lease aircraft from other airlines or leasing companies for two main reasons: to operate aircraft without the financial burden of buying them, and to provide temporary increase in capacity.

The types of lease depend on the requirements and various considerations of tax and revenue by the lessee (airlines company). Primarily, there are three types of leases for aircraft lease: (1) wet lease; (2) damp lease; and (3) dry lease.

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Aviation Leasing Service market size was valued at USD million in 2022 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD million by 2029 with a CAGR of % during review period.
