Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Baby Shampoo and Conditioner in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The increasing urbanization in populous countries, such as China and India are driving the growth of the baby care products market, which is increasing the demand for baby shampoo and conditioners. The declining infant mortality rates globally are providing ample opportunities for the growth of the global baby shampoo and conditioners market. With the increase in urbanization, the consciousness of parents towards the nurture of their child has increased which has augmented the spending on their child. All these drivers are responsible for the growth of the global baby shampoo and conditioners market.

EMEA was the dominant region during 2014 with a market share of around 36% in the global baby shampoo and conditioner market. The report predicts this region to lose its market share to APAC by the end of 2019. European countries are experiencing market saturation due to the high penetration by the existing vendors in the market. The declining birth rates and an increase in the number of single-child households is also expected to deter the market growth in this region.

The worldwide market for Baby Shampoo and Conditioner is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
