Performance additives are chemical substances added to materials, such as plastic, paints, rubber, and others to enhance their performance. Barrier materials are those additives that prevent the penetration of small atmospheric and molecular gases such as volatile flavor nitrogen compounds, carbon dioxide, oxygen, water vapor, and aromatic compounds into the packaging material. Various advantages of barrier materials are as follows: high level of chemical and thermal stability, transparency of material, resistance against bending, processing under normal reaction conditions, suitable for roll-to-roll manufacturing, large processing time barrier materials are popularly used in numerous applications due to their excellent performance and properties such as extended shelf life and high thermal stability against gases, water vapor, and aromas.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Barrier Materials in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Asia-Pacific is the leader of the barrier material market; this dominance is expected to continue till 2023. China is the key market in the region, accounting for more than half of the demand for barrier materials, followed by India, Japan, and Taiwan, where the demand is growing steadily.

PVDC is one of the key types of barrier materials. It is a highly effective barrier coating polymer that is produced by the polymerisation of a vinylidene chloride (VdC) monomer with other monomers such as acrylic esters and unsaturated carboxyl groups.
