BMC mold, namely Bulk Molding Compound mold, is a mold designed for molding BMC. BMC (Bulk Molding Compound) is a composite material composed of glass fiber reinforced polyester resin and other additives, with excellent mechanical properties, electrical properties and chemical resistance. BMC molds are manufactured using advanced technology and precision equipment, and can quickly complete the filling, pressing and demolding processes. They are durable and suitable for the production of BMC products of different shapes and sizes. They are widely used in the production of various high-performance BMC products in the automotive manufacturing (bumpers, dashboards, door panels), electronics (electrical housings, sockets, switches), construction, aerospace and other industries.
