Abstracts

The global Boxing Equipment market size is expected to reach $ 542.3 million by 2029, rising at a market growth of 4.2% CAGR during the forecast period (2023-2029).

The key manufacturers of Boxing Equipment are Everlast, Venum, Hayabusa Fighter, RDX Sports, Adidas, Century Maritime Arts, TITLE Boxing, and Bhalla International, among which the top three manufacturers account for nearly 40% of the market share. Currently, Everlast is the largest manufacturer. The production of global boxing equipment is mainly distributed in North America, Europe, China, and Japan, among which the top three production regions account for nearly 90% of the market share, with North America being the largest production region. In terms of product types, the growth rate of punching bags is relatively fast, but gloves have the highest market share, exceeding 40%, followed by products such as punching bags and protective gear. In terms of its sales channels, offline sales are currently the majority, with a market share of over 50%, followed by online sales.

As a sport that can strengthen the body and release passion, more and more people have begun to accept boxing and try to release their emotions and exercise their bodies through boxing. However, boxing is not like other sports. To achieve good results, a series of training is required. High-level boxers use many kinds of equipment. Even amateurs need certain equipment. Boxing equipment generally includes boxing gloves, protective gear, punching bags, etc. The hand bandage can protect the wrist and fist peak, and at the same time, it can better transmit power. Boxing gloves are essential equipment in boxing. It can help you finish the blow better while protecting the fist from getting hurt! And boxing gloves will also have different weights according to body weight. Boxing is a confrontational sport, and protective gear can very well protect every part of your body from being hit.
