BRC Food Certification Service: BRC food certification service refers to a specialized assessment and certification process offered by certification bodies to help food businesses achieve compliance with the British Retail Consortium (BRC) Global Standards for Food Safety.

The BRC food certification service involves a thorough inspection and evaluation of a food manufacturer's processes, systems, and products against the BRC Global Standards. These standards outline various requirements for food safety, quality management, production processes, and legal compliance.

During the certification process, trained auditors conduct on-site visits to assess the facility, examine records, and conduct interviews with employees. They evaluate critical areas such as food safety management systems, risk assessment, hazard analysis, traceability, and control of allergens, among others.

Upon successful completion of the assessment, the certification body awards the BRC food certification, indicating that the food manufacturer has met the required standards for food safety and quality management. This certification helps businesses demonstrate their commitment to food safety to customers, distributors, and regulatory authorities.

This report studies the global BRC Food Certification Service demand, key companies, and key regions.
