Cable management refers to the installation of equipment to secure cables for electrical services in a building. The term is used for products or workmanship. Cable management is important in information technology (IT), communications, and power distribution. Cable management supports as well as contains cables during installation, and makes subsequent maintenance or changes to the cable system easier. Products such as cable trays, cable ladders, and cable baskets are used to support a cable through cabling routes.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Building Cable Management Systems in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.
One of the primary drivers for this market is the rapidly accelerating bandwidth requirements for upgrading existing networks. The volume of data that is transmitted within an organizational network has increased significantly over the past few years. The growing use of instant messaging, VoIP, and video conferencing in organizations have increased the volume of packet data. This rapid increase in network traffic has led to a reduction in network efficiency and predictability. This rising demand for higher bandwidth for network traffic can be fulfilled by cable management systems. As these systems, can interconnect different networking devices on various network segments and store information about the location and availability of various network devices, the transmission of packet data becomes faster. This ability of the cable management system to facilitate faster data network will augment the global building cable
