Abstracts

The global Business Operational Risk Services market size is expected to reach $ 3527 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 6.2% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Business operations risk services refer to services provided by professional consulting firms, risk management service providers, GRC/IRM/ERM software platform providers, and managed operations service providers. These services address operational risks arising from factors such as personnel, processes, systems, external events, third-party dependencies, business interruptions, control deficiencies, regulatory requirements, and technological changes in a company's daily operations. These services include risk identification, risk assessment, control design, key risk indicator development, event and loss data management, risk reporting, operational resilience building, business continuity management, third-party risk management, internal control compliance rectification, platform system deployment, and continuous monitoring.

This report studies the global Business Operational Risk Services demand, key companies, and key regions.
