Abstracts

Butyl rubber is the foundation of today's butyl rubber technology. Butyl rubber is a copolymer of isobutylene and a small amount of isoprene providing for a highly saturated backbone. The primary properties of butyl rubber are excellent air-barrier performance, good flex fatigue and vibration damping.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Butyl Rubber in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Butyl rubber can be compounded with fillers and other modifiers and then vulcanized into practical rubber products. Owing to its excellent air retention, butyl rubber is the preferred material for inner tubes in all but the largest sizes. It also plays an important part in the inner liners of tubeless tires. (Because of poor tread durability, all-butyl tires have not proved successful.) IIR is also used for many other automobile components, including window strips, because of its resistance to oxidation. Its resistance to heat has made it indispensable in tire manufacture, where it forms the bladders that retain the steam or hot water used to vulcanize tires.

The market for butyl rubber is highly concentrated with limited players. The largest producers of butyl rubber in the worldwide are ExxonMobil, Lanxess, PJSC NizhneKamskneftekhim, JSR, Sibur, Sinopec Beijing Yanshan, Zhejiang Cenway Synthetic New Material and Panjin Heyun Group. Production of butyl rubber is North America. Europe, Japan and China are also major producing area of butyl rubber. Since the production of butyl rubber requires high technical experience, the competition would be moderate in the future.

The worldwide market for Butyl Rubber is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly 4.7% over the next five years, will reach 5800 million US$ in 2023, from 4390 million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
