Abstracts

The global C120 concrete market size is expected to reach $ million by 2030, rising at a market growth of % CAGR during the forecast period (2024-2030).

C120 concrete is a high-strength concrete with a compressive strength standard value of 120 MPa (MPa) or higher. This kind of concrete is usually used in engineering structures that need to withstand extreme loads or have special requirements, such as high-rise buildings, bridges, tunnels, marine projects, etc.

The preparation of C120 concrete requires the selection of high-quality raw materials, precise mix ratio design and strict construction process control to ensure that it meets the predetermined strength and durability requirements. Because C120 concrete has high strength and excellent durability, it has been widely used in modern civil engineering, playing an important role in improving the safety and reliability of engineering structures.
