Abstracts

Camel's milk has supported Bedouin, nomad and pastoral cultures since the domestication of camels millennia ago. Herders may for periods survive solely on the milk when taking the camels on long distances to graze in desert and arid environments.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Camel Milk in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

The players in the market have increased the production of camel milk due to the rise in demand from consumers. With the rise in the number of dairies producing camel milk, various companies are investing in increasing the herd size of camels to increase the production of milk. Organizations such as the Australian Wild Camel Corporation is planning to increase its herd size from 450 camels to 2,500 camels over the next two years as the number of dairies producing camel milk has increased to 10 in Australia during the past two years.

EMEA accounted for the maximum shares of the camel milk products market during 2017. Our analysts have predicted that though this region will witness a decline in its shares, it will continue to contribute to the maximum share of this market till the end of the forecast period.

The worldwide market for Camel Milk is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
