Abstracts

Carbonated beverages are commonly known as soft drinks which have carbon dioxide dissolved in it. They don't have any alcoholic content; hence, they are termed as soft drinks and spans across sparkling drinks, smoothies, juices, ready-to-drink tea and coffee, concentrates, and functional drinks. Carbonated beverages market is segmented based on their product types such as carbonated beverage regular, carbonated beverages diet, lemon/lime regular, and lemon/lime diet.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Carbonated Soft Drinks in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Sales of carbonated soft drinks are significantly based on the ability of the company to develop new products on the basis of changing consumer requirements. Market players opt for large-scale retailers and supermarkets such as Walmart, Safeway, and Carrefour for distribution to increase access of their products to numerous consumers. The development of technology has transformed the production process for the beverage industry. Companies are focusing on using equipment and technology which can improve the production output with the reduction in lead time and cost. Government and societal awareness towards environment and energy conservation are rising, which is resulting in more stringent emission and environmental rules. The Clean Water Act, The Resource Conservation and Recovery Act, and The Clean Air Act are some of the key regulations related to food & beverages which are aimed at conservation of energy and environment protection. The Americas dominated the global carbonated drinks market during 2014 and is anticipated to reach a revenue of around USD 122 billion by the end of 2019. This research report expects the market in this region to stagnate especially in Brazil, Mexico due to the increase in prices and the changing shift towards health awareness. The worldwide market for Carbonated Soft Drinks is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
