Abstracts

The global Cloud Access Security Broker (CASB) Platform market size is expected to reach $ 19431 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 7.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

A Cloud Access Security Broker (CASB) is a security policy enforcement point placed between cloud service users and cloud applications. It acts as a digital gatekeeper, providing critical visibility, compliance monitoring, data protection (DLP), and threat defense for enterprise SaaS, PaaS, and IaaS environments.

The growth of Cloud Access Security Broker (CASB) platforms is primarily driven by the enterprise transition to the cloud, the widespread adoption of SaaS applications, the normalization of remote work, and mounting pressure regarding data compliance. As enterprises continue to migrate their collaboration tools, customer relationship management, R&D management, file storage and sharing, and core business systems to the cloud, traditional perimeter-based security measures struggle to adequately cover employee access behaviors across multiple devices, locations, and cloud applications. Consequently, risks such as Shadow IT, account misuse, sensitive data exfiltration, accidental file sharing in the cloud, and cloud application misconfigurations are on the rise. By acting as an intermediary between users and cloud services, CASB provides capabilities for cloud application visibility, access control, data loss prevention, threat protection, and compliance auditing, thereby helping enterprises centrally manage the security risks associated with their use of SaaS, IaaS, PaaS, and select generative AI tools. Amidst the accelerating convergence of Zero Trust, SASE/SSE, data security governance, and AI usage governance, CASB is evolving from a standalone cloud access control tool into a foundational control layer within the broader enterprise cloud and data security ecosystem.
