Abstracts

Coiled Tubing (CT) is a cost effective solution for numerous well workover and intervention applications, which can continuously circulate through the tubing, and the CT pressure control equipment used in treating live wells. The tool string at the bottom of the coil is called as Bottom Hole Assembly (BHA). It can be a simple jetting nozzle to pump chemicals or cement through the coil or large string of logging tools. The coiled tube is straightened before being inserted into a wellbore and is re-spoiled back onto the reel after completion of the operation in the wellbore. Key coiled tubing service categories include well intervention services, including well completion & well cleaning, and CT drilling among others. Some of the key uses of CT include circulation, pumping, logging, perforation, and production.

Scope of the Report

This report focuses on the Coiled Tubing in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.
