Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Collections Insurance market size was valued at US$ 20579 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 28763 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 4.9% during review period.

Collections Insurance (also known as Collectibles Insurance) is a specialized form of property coverage tailored for high-value, rare, and appreciative assets, including fine art, luxury timepieces, antiques, coins, fine wine, and sports memorabilia. Unlike standard homeowners' insurance, which often imposes restrictive sub-limits on "valuables," collections insurance provides "All-Risk" protection that encompasses accidental breakage, mysterious disappearance, theft, and transit-related perils. A defining feature of these policies is the "Agreed Value" clause, where the insurer and the policyholder establish the asset's worth upfront based on professional appraisals, ensuring that total loss settlements are not affected by market volatility or depreciation. By 2026, premier policies also offer Diminution of Value coverage, which compensates for the loss in a collectible's market value even after professional restoration has been performed.
