Abstracts

The global Competition-Standard Dog Agility Equipment market size is expected to reach $ 59.34 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 5.5% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

In 2025, global sales of competition-standard dog agility equipment reached approximately 3,600 sets, with an average price of about US$11,000 per set. Competition-standard dog agility equipment refers to full-size obstacle equipment designed and manufactured in accordance with recognized canine agility competition rules, dimensional requirements, and safety standards established by organizations such as the FCI, AKC, The Kennel Club, and USDAA. Major products include hurdles, tyre jumps, wall jumps, long jumps, A-frames, dog walks, seesaws, weave poles, and competition tunnels, supplied as individual obstacles, partial equipment packages, or complete course sets. These products are commonly constructed from aluminum alloys, steel, engineering polymers, wood-based panels, and high-strength coated fabrics, and incorporate non-slip contact surfaces, adjustable jump heights, breakaway safety structures, stable support systems, and modular transportable designs. They enable standardized course construction, reduce collision, slipping, and entrapment risks, and accommodate dogs of different sizes and competition levels. Key applications include sanctioned canine agility events, agility clubs, professional dog training centers, pet sports venues, and private training facilities operated by competitive handlers.

Market growth is primarily driven by increasing participation in canine agility events and the continued development of organized competition systems, which encourage clubs, training centers, and event operators to purchase or replace standardized equipment. Replacement demand is also rising as older obstacles are upgraded with non-slip surfaces, breakaway safety structures, lightweight aluminum frames, and more portable designs. In addition, the expansion of pet sports venues, greater investment by professional handlers, and the gradual adoption of canine agility sports in emerging Asian markets are supporting new equipment demand.
