Abstracts

The global Compound Motherwort Capsules market size is expected to reach $ 46.04 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 6.9% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Compound Motherwort Capsules are a proprietary Traditional Chinese Medicine (TCM) for gynecological use, formulated primarily with Motherwort (Leonurus japonicus), Prepared Rehmannia Root, and Angelica Sinensis. Produced through processes including extraction, concentration, drying, granulation, and capsule filling, the product functions mainly to regulate menstruation, invigorate blood circulation, dispel blood stasis, and promote the generation of new blood. It is indicated for conditions caused by blood stasis—such as menorrhagia (excessive menstrual bleeding), hypomenorrhea (scanty menstruation), and prolonged menstruation—as well as persistent lochia resulting from incomplete postpartum uterine involution. The upstream supply chain encompasses Motherwort cultivation and harvesting, year-round supply of fresh Motherwort, processing of herbal decoction pieces, Motherwort extract, capsule shells (gelatin or plant-based materials), auxiliary materials for soft capsules (vegetable oil, glycerin, beeswax), aluminum-plastic blister packs, paper cartons, and quality testing equipment. The midstream sector involves TCM extraction, concentration, capsule filling or soft capsule encapsulation, drying, packaging, stability testing, and registration/brand sales. Downstream customers primarily include hospital gynecology departments, maternal and child health institutions, pharmacies, e-commerce platforms, primary healthcare facilities, and overseas herbal supplement retail channels.
