Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Construction Films in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. Based on type, the construction films market has been segmented into LLDPE, LDPE, HDPE, PP/BOPP, PET/BOPET, PA/BOPA, PVB, PVC, and others. The LLDPE type segment is expected to lead the construction films market, in terms of volume and volume, during the forecast period. While LDPE films are losing its market share to its advanced form, that is, LLDPE, owing to the high strength property of LLDPE, which allows down-gauging of films and results in reduced costs. The basic properties of LDPE films can be altered by blending additives or other polymers, such as LLDPE, EVA, black carbon, and color pigments to meet specific applications. LDPE films have a wide application in construction masking concrete structures, foundation lining, vapor barriers, etc.

The APAC region is the largest construction films market, in terms of value and volume. The growth of the APAC construction films market can be attributed to the increased demand for construction films from the region's developing countries, such as China and India.

The worldwide market for Construction Films is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly 4.5% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
