Abstracts

The global Corporate Governance Advisory Service market size is expected to reach $ 1339 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 5.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

To address challenges arising from the separation of ownership and management rights, such as principal-agent problems, insider control risks, and insufficient scientific strategic decision-making, corporate governance consulting services have emerged. Since the maturation of corporate governance theory and the standardization of capital markets in the mid-to-late 20th century, this professional service field has been continuously deepened and expanded. Currently, it has developed into a professional solution encompassing multiple modules, including governance structure design, board effectiveness improvement, equity incentive planning, ESG system construction, and compliance and risk control system building. It is widely applied in areas such as IPO preparation, family business transformation, state-owned enterprise reform, and localization of multinational corporations, significantly improving organizational decision-making efficiency, enhancing risk resistance capabilities, maintaining investor confidence, and driving sustainable value growth for enterprises.

The corporate governance consulting services market is in a period of rapid growth, with significant regional differences. Technological innovation and ESG trends are the main drivers, while facing challenges such as increased market competition and talent shortages. Companies need to consolidate their competitiveness through differentiated services, technological integration, and long-term value co-creation models.
