Abstracts

Corrosion monitoring is a vital part of maintaining awareness of the condition and service life of industrial systems and assets. A corrosion monitoring system includes hardware (probes, sensors, and other monitoring devices), software, and services.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Corrosion Monitoring Systems in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application. The intrusive type segment dominated the corrosion monitoring system market and is expected to continue its dominion over the next four years. The major contributor to the segment's growth is its wide utilization in pipeline and the upstream oil and gas sectors and the adoption of machinery and equipment in end-user industries.

The oil and gas sector accounted for the majority of the shares of the corrosion monitoring equipment market during 2016. The segment is foreseen to continue its market dominance during the forecast period due to the increase in investments, the adoption of sensors with wireless technology, and the emergence of advanced software solutions.

The worldwide market for Corrosion Monitoring Systems is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
