Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Cosmetic Preservatives in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

The growth of the cosmetic preservatives market is primarily being driven by the growth in application segment, such as Facemask, Sunscreens & Scrubs, and Shampoo & Conditioners. Factors such as changing lifestyle, growing consciousness for personal hygiene and increasing purchasing power of people for cosmetics & personal care products in developing countries are expected to drive the growth of market during the forecast period.

The paraben esters are the most commonly used cosmetic preservatives, but currently manufacturers are focusing on the development of paraben-free cosmetic products as several countries are imposing ban on specific categories of parabens that are harmful to the skin. A paradigm shift observed in the adoption of natural and organic cosmetic products is expected to hamper the growth of The global cosmetic preservatives.

The worldwide market for Cosmetic Preservatives is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly 6.1% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
