Abstracts

According to our latest research, the global Cosmetic Primary Packaging market size will reach USD 14880 million in 2031, growing at a CAGR of 5.2% over the analysis period.

Cosmetic Primary Packaging refers to the immediate container that directly holds and protects a cosmetic product, ensuring its integrity and safety. This packaging is in direct contact with the product and serves both functional and aesthetic purposes. Examples include bottles, jars, tubes, and pumps that contain items like lotions, creams, or serums. The primary packaging not only preserves the product but also provides essential information such as ingredients, usage instructions, and expiration dates. ?
