Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Cost Segregation Services market size was valued at US$ 644 million in 2024 and is forecast to a readjusted size of USD 1336880 million by 2031 with a CAGR of 669.9% during review period.

Cost Segregation Services refer to specialized tax services aimed at helping property owners accelerate depreciation deductions on their buildings by reclassifying components of the property into shorter depreciation categories. By conducting a detailed analysis, often with the help of engineers, tax professionals identify specific parts of a property (such as fixtures, plumbing, electrical systems, flooring, etc.) that can be classified as personal property or land improvements, which have shorter depreciation periods (typically 5, 7, or 15 years) instead of the standard 27.5 or 39 years for real property.

Cost segregation was more common among large property owners or those with substantial real estate portfolios. However, increasing awareness and education about the benefits of cost segregation has led to its broader adoption, including small- to mid-sized property owners and real estate investors.

The development of specialized software and tools for cost segregation analysis has streamlined the process. Automated tools can help in asset reclassification, performing calculations, and generating reports, reducing the time and labor required for studies.

With more individuals and institutions seeking alternative investments, including real estate, cost segregation services have become essential for maximizing returns. Real estate investors, particularly those in syndicates and funds, rely heavily on cost segregation to reduce taxable income in the early years of property ownership.
