According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Creepless Bearing market size was valued at US$ 2058 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 2876 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 4.9% during review period.

A Creepless Bearing (also known as an anti-creep bearing) is a specialized rolling-element bearing designed to prevent the circumferential sliding—known as 'creep'—between the bearing's outer ring and the housing. This is typically achieved by integrating elastic components, such as O-rings or resin bands, into the outer ring to increase friction and compensate for fit clearances.

In 2025, global EV Bearings production reached approximately 400 million units and average price was 5 usd/units.
