Abstracts

A digital video recorder (DVR) is an electronic device that is connected to a television and is useful for recording television shows and movies.

Scope of the Report:

This report focuses on the Digital Video Recorder in global market, especially in North America, Europe and Asia-Pacific, South America, Middle East and Africa. This report categorizes the market based on manufacturers, regions, type and application.

Factors like the advent of time-shifting and ad-skipping features are expected to drive market growth during the forecast period. The time-shifting feature allows viewers to record incoming the video stream, whereas the ad-skipping feature allows viewers to skip or fast-forward advertisements. These features are generally present in new DVRs and allow viewers to record and watch videos at any time.

This market has immense growth opportunities and is highly competitive due to the presence of multiple manufacturers. However, factors like intense competition, rapid advances in technology, and frequent changes in consumer preferences pose significant challenges for the manufacturers in this market.

At present, the Americas dominate the DVR market followed by the EMEA and the APAC regions. However, as the DVR market in APAC is still in its nascent stage, it is estimated to post the highest market growth rate during the forecast period. High market growth rate of this region can be attributed to its large overall TV subscriber base.

The worldwide market for Digital Video Recorder is expected to grow at a CAGR of roughly xx% over the next five years, will reach xx million US$ in 2023, from xx million US$ in 2017, according to a new GIR (Global Info Research) study.
