Abstracts

The global Dog Dental Spray market size is expected to reach $ 183 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 6.6% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Dental sprays claim to prevent or break down plaque buildup. Most products do not need to be sprayed onto the teeth, as they will mix with the dog's saliva and be moved around the mouth as the dog licks and swallows. In 2025, global Dog Dental Spray production reached approximately 16,143 k units, with an average global market price of around 7 US$/Unit. The production capacity of Dog Dental Spray reaches 20,200 k units, and the industry's gross profit margin is approximately between 30% and 50%.

The rapid development of the dog dental spray market is mainly driven by multiple factors, including the transformation of pets into family members, a significant increase in owners' health awareness, the advocacy of early intervention for oral diseases by veterinarians, and the low adoption rate of traditional brushing methods among pets. At the same time, consumers have a strong demand for convenient, stress-free, and daily oral care solutions, coupled with the trend of natural ingredients and the convenience of e-commerce channels, which together drive the continued development of this category.

This report studies the global Dog Dental Spray production, demand, key manufacturers, and key regions.
