Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Dog Food Foundry Service market size was valued at US$ 7578 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 12760 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 7.8% during review period.

Dog food foundry service refer to professional manufacturing enterprises—equipped with capabilities in R&D, formula design, raw material procurement, production, quality testing, packaging design, and supply chain management—that provide customized dog food production for brand owners, e-commerce companies, pet product firms, and distributors. These manufacturers typically develop various types of dog food based on client requirements—including extruded, freeze-dried, wet, fresh, functional, prescription, and natural foods—offering end-to-end services ranging from formula development and nutritional testing to manufacturing and private labeling. Compared to traditional in-house production, the contract manufacturing model lowers factory construction costs and barriers to entry for brands while accelerating time-to-market for new products, making it a vital supply chain model within the pet food industry.

With the global increase in the number of pets, the growing trend towards more humanized pets, and consumers' increasing focus on pet health, nutrition, and safety, the dog food market continues to develop towards premiumization, functionalization, and customization. Against this backdrop, an increasing number of emerging pet brands, e-commerce brands, and regional brands are choosing to enter the market using the OEM/ODM model to reduce fixed asset investment and quickly launch differentiated products. Meanwhile, the rapid growth of niche markets such as freeze-dried food, low-temperature baked food, grain-free food, high-protein food, and functional nutritional food will drive OEM manufacturers to improve their R&D and flexible manufacturing capabilities. In the future, the dog food OEM industry will exhibit trends towards specialized production, large-scale manufacturing, R&D-driven development, supply chain integration, and globalization.
