Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global DTF & DTG Ink market size was valued at US$ 1090 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 1712 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 4.9% during review period.

In 2025, the global production volume of DTF & DTG Ink reached approximately 25.8 thousand tons, with an average selling price of approximately US$42,500 per ton, production capacity of approximately 34.0 thousand tons, and a gross margin of approximately 35.8%.

DTF & DTG inks are water-based inkjet ink systems specifically developed for digital textile printing, mainly including Direct-to-Film (DTF) inks and Direct-to-Garment (DTG) inks. DTF inks are typically printed onto a dedicated transfer film and then transferred onto cotton, polyester, blended fabrics and other textile substrates by heat pressing with hot-melt adhesive powder or other bonding systems. DTG inks are printed directly onto garments or textile surfaces, generally using water-based pigment formulations and, depending on the fabric and color, may require pretreatment. The product portfolio mainly includes CMYK color inks and high-opacity white inks, and is widely used in apparel, home textiles, footwear, bags and personalized textile printing. Major suppliers such as DuPont, Mimaki and Kodak have established dedicated DTF and/or DTG ink product portfolios.

The upstream industry chain of DTF and DTG inks mainly includes pigments and pigment dispersions, resins and polymer dispersion systems, humectants, surfactants, solvents, water-treatment materials and other functional additives, as well as printhead compatibility and ink formulation technologies. White ink, which generally contains a relatively high proportion of titanium dioxide pigment, places particularly high requirements on dispersion stability, sedimentation control and printhead compatibility. Midstream companies are responsible for pigment dispersion, formulation development, filtration, filling and printing compatibility testing, and develop products for different printhead platforms such as Epson, Ricoh and Kyocera. Downstream customers mainly include DTF and DTG printer manufacturers, textile printing service providers, garment customization companies, print-on-demand platforms, and apparel, home textile, footwear and bag manufacturers. DTF printing generally also requires PET transfer film, hot-melt adhesive powder and heat-pressing equipment, while DTG printing more commonly involves fabric pretreatment chemicals and curing equipment. Mimaki's PHT50 DTF-specific ink and Kodak's Film-to-Fabric system illustrate the integrated development of inks, printing equipment and transfer materials.
