Abstracts

The global Enterprise Performance Management (EPM) Consultant market size is expected to reach $ 9301 million by 2032, rising at a market growth of 7.3% CAGR during the forecast period (2026-2032).

Enterprise performance management (EPM) consultants support and advise companies through their corporate planning, analytics, and reporting activities. These providers offer project-based or long-term support around a company's performance initiatives. They may also support businesses with the implementation, adoption, and usage of EPM or corporate performance management (CPM) software.

The market demand for Enterprise Performance Management (EPM) consulting continues to grow, primarily driven by enterprises' urgent need to improve strategic execution and the quality of operational decision-making. Against the backdrop of a complex and volatile external environment and intensified competition, organizations urgently need to build agile budgeting and forecasting mechanisms, strengthen business-finance synergy, and drive the transformation of the finance function towards business empowerment. Simultaneously, the deepening of digital transformation has led to challenges such as inconsistent indicators, data silos, and disconnected management processes after the deployment of various information systems, necessitating professional consulting support to realize the value of these systems. Furthermore, increasingly stringent regulatory compliance requirements, the accelerated implementation of domestic IT innovation policies, and the increased management complexity resulting from mergers and acquisitions of large corporations have further driven the demand for professional and systematic EPM consulting services.

This report studies the global Enterprise Performance Management (EPM) Consultant demand, key companies, and key regions.
