Abstracts

According to our (Global Info Research) latest study, the global Epoxy Tile Grout market size was valued at US$ 1111 million in 2025 and is forecast to a readjusted size of US$ 1802 million by 2032 with a CAGR of 7.1% during review period.

In 2025, global production of epoxy tile grout reached approximately 0.30 million tons, based on an average market price of around US$ 3,600 per ton. Industry gross profit margins generally ranged from 32% to 50%, reflecting value added from resin formulation, color stability, and chemical resistance performance. Global production capacity in 2025 was estimated at about 0.39 million tons, indicating adequate supply capability to support construction and renovation demand.

Epoxy tile grout is a two-component or multi-component grouting material formulated with epoxy resins and fillers, designed to fill tile joints with high strength and durability. It provides excellent resistance to water, chemicals, stains, and abrasion, making it suitable for demanding environments.

The industrial chain includes upstream epoxy resins, curing agents, pigments, and mineral fillers. The midstream focuses on formulation blending, quality control, packaging, and logistics. Downstream applications mainly involve residential construction, commercial buildings, industrial flooring, and renovation projects.

The epoxy tile grout market is growing steadily as demand increases for high-performance and long-lasting tiling solutions. Growth is driven by rising construction quality standards, expansion of commercial spaces, and increased renovation activity in residential markets. Epoxy grouts are favored for their superior durability, hygiene properties, and resistance to moisture and chemicals compared with cement-based alternatives. Technological improvements in formulation and ease of application are expanding acceptance among contractors and installers. During 2026-2032, supported by urbanization, infrastructure investment, and premium interior finishing trends, the epoxy tile grout market is expected to maintain stable growth across global construction markets.
